Did You Know...

...that the building you are sitting in is what many call the most historic building in Wilmette? It was the primary catalyst which stimulated development of the community. The Chicago Sunday Times on May 4, 1873 reported, that the Wilmette Depot is "a pretentious affair...the finest station on the entire line." For more information on the history of the building, check out our display in the hallway on the east side of the bar.
